TRANSATLANTIC DEGREE CINEMA AND LANGUAGE (TDC&L)

The University of Messina (UNIME), the Universidad de Córdoba (UCO), and the Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU), founding members of the Center for Integrative Mediterranean Studies (CIMS), have established a Transatlantic Degree in Cinema and Language (TDC&L), weaving existing graduate courses in specific areas of expertise at each university into an innovative, interdisciplinary curriculum in cinema studies that explores issues of identity, globalization and intercultural relations.

Students will enroll and pay only tuition and fees at their Home University with the application of fee waiver at Host TDC&L Institution Partners. Successful students will achieve a EU—US dual degree: one from Home University and the other from the EU/US University Partner.

Students will spend a full academic year across the Atlantic taking classes on cinema and media studies in three languages and earning a dual graduate degree fully recognized by their home institution as “Transatlantic Degree in Cinema and Language”. TDC&L ECTS Education catalog offer is available on:
